

Parenting Your Gifted Child:

Join SENG Parent Support Group facilitators Kim Servia and Fatim Klinker, as well as your fellow parents for an in-depth, 8-week study group discussion about supporting the social and emotional needs of your gifted child.

Based on the SENG Model, A SENG Parent Support Group consists of 15-20 interested parents who read a chapter from A Parent's Guide to Raising Gifted Children by SENG founder, Jim Webb, and meet every week for 90 minutes to discuss the recommended strategies from the book and share parenting tips with each other.

Group discussion is guided by a SENG-trained Parent Group Facilitator. Facilitators do not provide therapy, but instead focus on establishing a supportive, nonjudgmental atmosphere that promotes learning and encourages participation from the group.
